What is Epitheloid Sarcoma

A rare type of cancer that usually begins as a slow-growing, firm lump in the deep soft tissue or skin of the arms, hands, or fingers.

- Epitheloid Sarcoma often recurs (comes back) after treatment.
- The cancer may spread to nearby tissue, lymph nodes, or other parts of the body.

Our team, led by Dr. Charles Keller, is made up of half scientists and half engineers, collaborating to quickly discover new treatment options for children with cancer.

It's time we increase the treatment options for children with cancer.
